IQAC Coordinator's Message

Mr. Yashwardhan Singh

With the advent of modern technology, it is easier than ever to foster connections. Therefore, it is also more important than ever to seek connections where perhaps there were none before. In our wish to venture into previously unexplored forays, the team at St. Xavier's College Jaipur has embraced this ethos by shaping innovative partnerships with national and international organisations. We have also sought novel collaborations with varied elements of society, in the areas of road safety, publications and applied research. Such collaborations are geared towards promotion of personal safety, academic excellence, enrichment in sports and music, fostering environmental sustainability, in order to bridge the gap between academics, employability and entrepreneurship.

Additionally, while honouring existing areas of collaboration, MoUs aligned with faculty and student exchange, industrial exposure, intricacies of export, facilitating knowledge about social commitment, charity and social work, and responsible disposal of waste have also been forged.

Through these collaborations, it is our hope to create a vibrant and dynamic learning environment geared to sensitise, nurture, and equip young students to confidently move towards a compassionate, competent, and sustainable future.
